23 One of a thousand angels (messenger dispatched by God) then comes to our rescue by saying we are innocent (right in God's sight). 24 The angel shows kindness (favor, mercy), commanding death to release us, because the price was paid (redemption covers our lives). 25 Our health is restored, we feel young again (days of youth comes back strong again), 26 and we ask God to accept us (show us favor). Then we joyfully worship God (shouts of joy restores our righteousness), and we are rewarded because we are innocent (right before God). 27 When that happens, we tell everyone (testify of God's goodness). "I have not done right, but God spared me (God forgave my sins)."
28 The God has freed my soul from going into the pit (hell), and my life will see the light (soul prospers, happiness fills every area of my life). 29 God gives us chance after chance 30 to be saved from death (hell) and brought into the light that gives life (spiritual strength).
